the Stroudsburg Laborers.

Camps Rivalled.

The story told exclusively in "The Evening World" yesterday of the brutal treatment of the laborers employed on the railroad at Stroudsburg, Pa., and from the result of which one man died, four others are lying in Bellevue Hospital with typhoid fever, and as many more in Jersey hospitals, receives additional confirmation to-day.

A search around the Battery, where the laborers usually congregate, resulted in the discovery by an "Evening World" reporter of several others who had just returned, and were full of the story. According to their statements the Brennan brothers are not the only ones who supply the contractors with men. John Connors, of 6 Battery place, they said, was the biggest man in the business, and over his door this sign is always swinging: Wanted-Men to work on a railroad who arrived here sick and destitute on Monday night worked, is not the only contractor engaged in cutting through the mountain at Stroudsburg. There are three of them, each having a camp of his own.

The first one to be encountered is that of Strang; then cames Theobold & Noble. derson, and further on McCabe & Noble. All three, however, seem to be connected in some manner, and the last named firm is the "headquarters" of all.

"I was No. 21 of a batch of about eighty, which Connors sent out in April last," said one of the men to the reporter, "and I can tell you that the stories published about the hardships does not half tell what really did take place." When we arrived at Jersey City we

INSURANCE CASE DECIDED.

Mrs. Vanderwerker Wine Her Suit Against Her Nephew.

Justice Bartlett, of the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, this morning handed down a Brooklyn, this morning handed down a decision giving judgment to Mrs. Angelina Vanderweker in her suit against George H. Maywood to get control of $3,000 due on a life insurance policy held by Maywood's wife.

Mrs. Maywood's wife.

Mrs. Maywood's policy was taken out in the Misjah Lodge Knights and Ladles of Honor while she was Miss Ray R. Smalley. Mrs. Vanderwerker, Mrs. Maywood's aunt, claims that although she paid for the policy and all premiums thereafter, her niece transferred her policy to her husband shortly after marrying him, and that he held it at the time of her death in the Flatbush Hospital. Both put in claims for the insurance.

CARTER NOT FOUND IN SING SING. Story that the Missing Convict Was Seen Passing a House. SING SING, June 7 .- Nothing has been heard at the prison of the escaped con-vict, George W. Carter. The prison has been searched from top to bottom, The Brooklyn police are looking for and still no trace of the man has been All the guards, except those on watch in the death-house, are either searching for Carter or guarding the walls and approaches. Last night the entire prison force was up and watching. It is not thought that Carter went beyond the wall during the darkness.

Last night, shortly before midnight, a Mirs. V.n. Tassell, living on Hunter street, notified Guard Bronson that she had seen a man dressed in convict uniform walking past her house. A detail of guards was sent out to search for the man, but returned empty-handed Mrs. Van Tassell's story is doubted, and it is thought she was mistaken.
